Yes, I've seen these documents, but please realize that most of these interpretations were modified and ultimately coalesced into the WEPCO rule of 1992. The preamble to that rule is also very descriptive. For a quick and short summary of PSD and electric utilities, see Region VII's brief overview in the attached letter. The most current policy is still best reflected in the May 2000 Region V letter to Detroit Edison.

Rand did you have time and looked at the web page I sent you? If you did look at the #3 reference (Letter from EPA to WEPCo dated after January 1990) page 4 last paragraph (before the foot note).
